Thoughts From the Editor

Dear Friends,

I have truly enjoyed my Senior year here at Mulhall. I have made new friends and renewed old friendships. As a Senior, one thing that is brought to mind more clearly than any other is the influence of the school in the molding of our lives. As we work with many and varied personalities, we must learn to get along with all if we are to get the most out of the years we spend in school.

In getting along with people, we must first learn that they also may have ideas on how things can be done which may be as effective as our own. Thus, the school molds our lives through association with others and our ability to assume responsibilities. First, through lesson assignments, then in later years, other projects and activities of which the successful completion become our responsibility. Furthermore, we gain experience in assessment of values; that is "the ability to discern" and to say YES to the good and NO to the bad.

Friendship means an attachment to others by mutual respect and affection. This meaning says a lot. Unless this relation or feeling does exist they are not true friends. I have made many friends; I have learned a lot. These friends, I feel, are for life. Some friends may be closer than others, but yet there is the attachment to each other.

As I am in my last year of school, I realize the value of friendship more fully than I did. We each realize the separation which will come at the end of this year. We will miss one another, but there is the one bond between us which no one can break.

May each of you remember this and may the Lord richly bless you.

Sincerely yours,

Teresa Luster
